NOTICES

- OFDA does not desire or require elaborate covers or bindings for proposal submissions.
- These Guidelines should not be used in lieu of instructions contained in a “Request for Applications (RFA)” or an “Annual Program Statement (APS).” Grantees should read and follow specific instructions contained in an RFA or APS to ensure consideration of their proposal in these competitive situations.
- Any examples presented in these guidelines are illustrative and should be used as a guide in developing proposals. Examples should not be viewed literally for format or content.
- Use of couriers or express mail is not encouraged as this may actually delay receipt of a proposal. If the submission is time-sensitive, an electronic submission is encouraged with a subsequent hard copy by regular mail. Per the guidelines, it must be clear that an organization’s headquarters generates electronic submissions.
- Unless indicated otherwise, these guidelines do not apply to public international organizations (PIOs or IOs) – including UN agencies – unless OFDA is the sole contributor.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Annual Program Statement	A form of solicitation used to generate competition for new awards where OFDA intends to support a variety of creative approaches by the NGO community to develop their own methodologies in assessing and/or implementing activities in keeping with OFDA's strategic objectives.
Assessment (Needs assessment)	The process of determining the impact, or potential impact, of a crisis or event prior to, during, and/or after the crisis or event. An assessment determines the need for immediate emergency measures to save and sustain lives and reduce suffering of affected populations, and calculates the possibilities for expediting recovery. It also evaluates the capacity of local populations to cope with the crisis. The assessment process can range from formal and scientific to anecdotal and impressionistic and should continue periodically throughout the program.
Beneficiaries	The members of an affected population who receive humanitarian assistance.
Context-Specific Programming	An approach to programming that reflects the combination of variables that distinguish the individual context of a disaster, such as gender roles, the environment, and social and political networks. (See Annex H: Context-Specific Programming)
Complex Humanitarian Emergencies	Humanitarian emergencies that are caused or complicated by civil strife.
Coping Mechanisms	The set of behaviors or activities that people engage in to survive a crisis, such as consuming wild foods or selling assets such as livestock, property, jewelry, tools, and household furnishings.
Cost Sharing	In appropriate instances, USAID may require that a specified percentage of a program's funding come from non-federal sources. For types of contributions that may be considered for the purposes of cost sharing, see 22 CFR 226.23 (See Annex C: References)
Critical Assumptions	General conditions that are outside the control or influence of an organization but, if changed, may affect the ability to successfully implement a program.

GUIDELINES FOR PROPOSALS AND REPORTING

Disaster	A foreign disaster, as defined by OFDA, is an act of nature or man-made that is, or threatens to be, of sufficient severity or magnitude to warrant U.S. emergency relief assistance.
Expected Result	A measurable outcome of a program's objective.
Goal	The overall purpose of the program. The big picture.
Hazard	The potential for a natural or man-made event to occur with negative consequences.
Indicator	A measurement used to demonstrate change resulting from a particular intervention. Indicators are used to monitor progress toward achieving expected results.
Indirect Beneficiaries	Members of an affected population who do not receive direct assistance but who nonetheless benefit from assistance being given to their relatives, neighbors, friends, or community.
International Standard	An accepted measure for a humanitarian assistance commodity or service delivery recommended by relevant international organizations.
In-kind Contribution	The value of non-cash contributions to a program provided by any third party, including counterpart contributions from host country institutions. In-kind contributions may be in the form of space, equipment, supplies, expendable property, and the value of goods and services directly benefiting and specifically identifiable by an organization.
Livelihoods	The means by which an individual or a part of a society sustains its existence.
Measurable	Describes an outcome that can be determined and reported quantitatively or qualitatively, and used as a basis for comparison.
Mitigation	Measures taken to reduce the loss of life, livelihoods, and property by reducing vulnerability.
Objective	A subset of the goal that more specifically categorizes program activities according to needs to be addressed. Please refer to the list of OFDA's reporting objectives. (See page 19)

GUIDELINES FOR PROPOSALS AND REPORTING

Performance Baseline	A comprehensive description of the conditions of a beneficiary population or situation at the point of the initial needs assessment and from which program progress will be tracked and measured.
Preparedness	Actions taken to reduce the loss of human lives and the economic impact of disasters by strengthening local capacities to respond.
Prevention	Measures taken to prevent a natural phenomenon or potential hazard from having harmful effects on either persons or economic assets.
Qualitative Data	Descriptive observations often expressed in reference to behavior, attitudes, beliefs, and personal experiences.
Quantitative Data	Data expressed numerically that may include qualitative information.
Risk	The probability that a loss will occur as the result of an adverse event. The level of risk is a factor of hazard and vulnerability.
Shared Costs	A budget term for those costs that cannot be logically attributed to any individual objective, being grouped and presented in a budget together instead of allocated across program objectives. (See page 26)
Sphere Project	A broad collaborative effort initiated in 1997 that included many large and small relief agencies and donors. Its aim is to reach common minimum standards for emergency activities on the basis of humanitarian principles covering five essential “life saving” sectors. The five technical areas are water/sanitation, health, nutrition, food aid, and site/shelter. (See Annex C, References)
Targeted Population	Beneficiaries chosen for assistance based on anthropometric or socioeconomic criteria.
Time Line	The set of planned actions from the beginning to the end of an intervention that includes preparatory and post-program planning and evaluation.
USAID Regulation 26	“Administration of Assistance Awards for U.S. Non-Governmental Organizations.” (See Annex C: References)
Vulnerability	The extent to which a community is at risk from disasters.

INTRODUCTION

In order to fulfill its mandate, the Office of U.S. Foreign Disaster Assistance (OFDA) has developed these guidelines to assist in the preparation of proposals for new grants and grant modifications for submission to OFDA. They provide information relevant to the grant proposal review and award process, outline the main components of a grant proposal, and present reporting requirements. Annexes provide additional information, as well as administrative and financial forms. If your organization has never previously received OFDA funding, please contact the OFDA regional representative for additional guidance. To obtain this information, please consult the USAID website at: http://www.usaid.gov/hum_response/ofda/contact.html

OFDA's Mandate and Role in Humanitarian Assistance

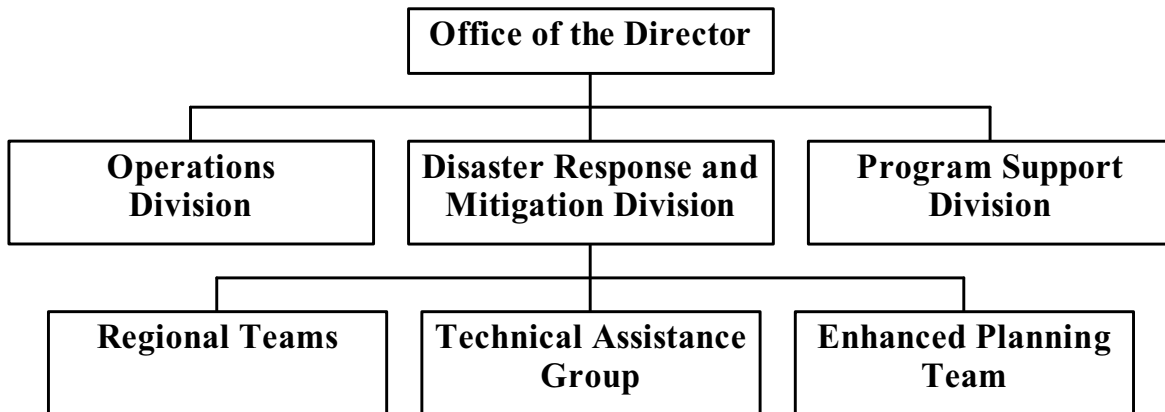

OFDA is part of the U. S. Agency for International Development's (USAID) Bureau for Democracy, Conflict, and Humanitarian Assistance (DCHA). OFDA coordinates the U.S. Government response to disasters in foreign countries. OFDA's mandate is to save lives, alleviate suffering, and reduce the economic impact of disasters. OFDA's humanitarian assistance is largely provided through grants to Private Voluntary Organizations, Non-Governmental Organizations, and International Organizations. OFDA's implementing partners help OFDA achieve its objective of meeting the critical needs of targeted vulnerable groups in emergency situations.

OFDA funds are authorized for the following activities:

- Disaster relief: Assistance provided for affected populations in natural or man-made disasters that will sustain life or reduce human suffering.
- Rehabilitation: Assistance to restore the self-sufficiency and livelihoods of disaster-affected populations.
- Prevention, mitigation, and preparedness: Assistance to reduce the impacts of natural and man-made disasters in at-risk areas.

OFDA/W ORGANIZATIONAL CHART

OFDA is organized into three divisions, under the management of the Office of the Director. The Disaster Response and Mitigation (DRM) division is responsible for coordinating with other organizations for the provision of relief supplies and humanitarian assistance. DRM also monitors and evaluates OFDA programs and develops, coordinates, and implements program strategies, and prevention and preparedness initiatives for a variety of natural and man-made disaster situations. The Operations division (OPS) develops and manages logistical, operational, and technical support for disaster responses. OPS maintains readiness to respond to emergencies through a number of mechanisms, including several managing several Search and Rescue Teams, the Ground Operations Team, field Disaster Assistance Response Teams (DART), and Washington-based Response Management Teams. The Program Support (PS) division provides programmatic and administrative support, including budget/financial services, procurement planning, contract and grant administration, general administrative support, training, and communication support for OFDA in Washington, D.C. and in its field offices.

PROGRAMMING PRINCIPLES OF DEVELOPMENTAL RELIEF

- Collaboration/coordination: OFDA expects implementing organizations to work together to avoid overlap, creation of gaps in relief assistance, and confusion among local communities regarding assistance programs and availability of services. Implementing partners should regularly share information with other organizations in the area, particularly in accord with established information centers, and work to standardize data collection methodologies and minimize security risks.
- Context-specific conditions: OFDA-funded programs should strive to avoid disrupting social organizations and networks by recognizing existing social relationships such as community and gender roles and responsibilities, the natural and political environments, local economies, and cultural beliefs and practices. Programs should be appropriate and relevant to these conditions and should consider both immediate and possible long-term impacts. OFDA acknowledges that some local practices must change during disasters and encourages programs to include training and local community participation in order to ensure that new behaviors or temporary technologies are adopted safely.
- Livelihoods: The resumption of income- or food-generating activities plays a crucial role in helping disaster-affected populations recover from disasters. OFDA favors programs that support and encourage the maintenance or rehabilitation of livelihood assets and skills where possible, recognizing that the introduction of new livelihood initiatives will require consideration of economic dynamics and other context-specific conditions.
- Prevention, mitigation, and preparedness: Programs that operate at the regional, national, and community levels to help prepare for or lessen the impact of disasters are critical to reducing a country's dependence on external relief assistance. OFDA promotes disaster prevention, mitigation, and preparedness activities both in the course of implementing a disaster response and as a pre-disaster strategy to reduce disaster impacts in areas at risk. OFDA's Disaster Reduction: A Practitioner's Guide is available for additional guidance at the following website: http://www.usaid.gov/hum_response/ofda/files/hbkoc18.pdf
- Promotion of international standards: OFDA supports the use of international standards in all disaster response programs. While recognizing that reaching the minimum standards (such as the Sphere Project) is not always possible, OFDA encourages their use as a guideline when designing disaster response and mitigation activities.
- Systematic information collection: OFDA encourages organizations to provide for the systematic collection of information in their areas of implementation. Systematic information collection is defined as using a methodology that is established, or can be replicated by others, and whose results are comparable. This is vital in designing appropriate strategies and programs and for targeting the most urgent needs.
- Training/capacity building: Where appropriate, OFDA supports programs that include methods and activities that serve to train local staff, NGOs, community groups, and other organizations, building their capacities both to function as organizations as well as to enhance technical skills of individuals. OFDA encourages the use of appropriate technologies, whether local or introduced.

- Use of existing local capacity/local community interaction: OFDA funded programs should incorporate the views, opinions, and experiences of local communities and officials in planning, designing, and implementing programs, wherever possible.

OFDA PROPOSAL REVIEW AND GRANT AWARD PROCESS

OFDA/W must receive proposals from an organization's headquarters, not field representatives, in order to be considered for review. Proposals should be directed to the appropriate point of contact in OFDA/W. Please consult the USAID website at:

http://www.usaid.gov/hum_response/ofda/drmphone.html for the current list of regional responsibilities.

All proposals must meet the following standards to be considered acceptable for review:

- Include date of submission
- Conform to the 20 page limit set forth for program proposals
- Request a realistic start date
- Provide a complete cost proposal
- Include signed certifications and representations (See Annex F: Certifications)
- Provide the number of beneficiaries targeted for each objective

The paragraphs below outline OFDA's procedures for reviewing proposals. However, applicants should note that OFDA maintains flexibility when responding to emerging disasters. OFDA/W staff will keep applicants informed with regular communication throughout the process. Electronic communication is preferred.

1. OFDA/W will inform the point of contact designated in the proposal to acknowledge receipt of the proposal. At this time, OFDA/W, in coordination with OFDA field staff, will determine the acceptability of the proposal according to the standards detailed above. OFDA/W will reject proposals that do not meet these standards. OFDA may also reject a proposal if funds are not currently available for the program.
2. If the proposal is acceptable, OFDA/W will conduct a formal review. The review will consider programmatic, technical, and cost issues according to the criteria described in these Guidelines.

Essential criteria applied to all proposals include the following:

- Strength of the justification of the need for the proposed program
 - Explanation for selecting/targeting beneficiaries
 - Technical merit of the proposal
 - Appropriateness of the proposed program to OFDA's mandate and the emergency situation
 - Incorporation of relevant principles of developmental relief in program design
 - Demonstration of coordination and collaboration
 - Realistic and measurable expected results
 - Successful past performance
 - Cost realism (See Guidelines for Cost Proposal on page 23)
3. Generally, the formal proposal review raises issues that will be communicated to the applicants' headquarters. Pending resolution of the issues, OFDA will consider the proposal to be on hold.

4. When OFDA/W determines that the issues are satisfactorily resolved, OFDA/W will notify the applicant that the proposal has been recommended for funding. OFDA/W will process the documentation and will forward it to USAID'S Office of Procurement.

Upon approval of the proposal by OFDA/W, and at the request of the applicant, USAID may elect to provide the applicant with a pre-award letter (PAL) that communicates OFDA's expectations about the grant award. Typically, a PAL will set forth the date from which it is anticipated that a grantee will be reimbursed for program costs incurred between the date the proposal is approved and the date of award. OFDA cautions applicants that any costs incurred prior to award cannot be reimbursed in the event that an award is not made.

5. USAID's Office of Procurement provides final approval of applications by award of a grant. No communication from OFDA, written or verbal, constitutes final approval. Once awarded, the Office of Procurement will forward copies of the grant document to the applicant's point of contact. It is the responsibility of the organization to ensure that copies are made available to its field staff.

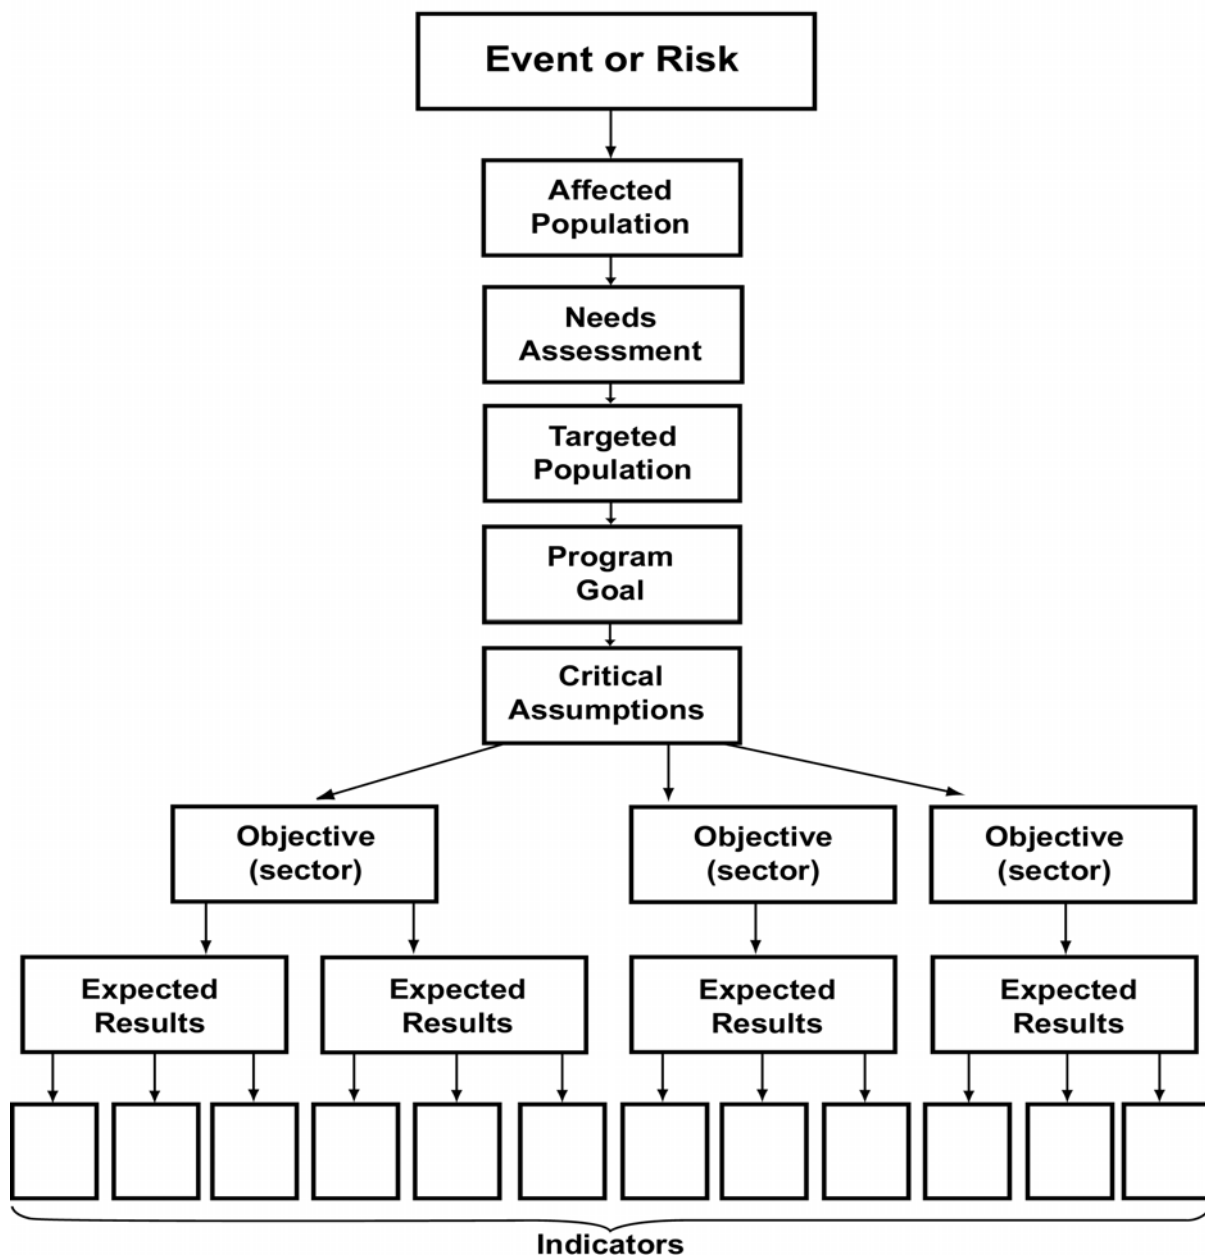

CONCEPT PAPERS

Concept papers may be submitted to OFDA/W and/or to OFDA field staff. OFDA encourages prospective applicants to provide a concept paper prior to submission of a full proposal because concept papers can provide a quick answer to the question, "Is OFDA interested in this program?" without requiring the applicant to prepare a full proposal. Once OFDA has determined that it is interested in the concept, applicants will be requested to submit a full proposal for formal review in accordance with these Guidelines. Concept papers should outline objectives and expected results, and include a preliminary cost estimate. A good concept paper should not exceed five pages in length. Acceptance of a concept paper does not guarantee that OFDA will fund an applicant's proposal.

GUIDELINES FOR THE PROGRAM PROPOSAL

These Guidelines attempt to construct a logical process that will accommodate OFDA's information needs while helping the applicant convey the strength of the proposed program. OFDA emphasizes the need for clear implementation plans, expected results, and both qualitative and quantitative data collection for all proposed programs. In addition, the proposal should address developmental relief principles, coordination and information sharing, and security.

Process of Program Development

The following outline provides the recommended proposal format and explains the type of information OFDA needs for decision-making. Narratives, tables and log frames are all acceptable. Applicants should ensure that proposals are limited to 20 pages (excluding the cost proposal), include page numbers and the submission date.

I. Executive Summary

The executive summary provides a brief overview of the proposed program goal, objectives, and expected results. Requested information is listed in the sample on page 31.

II. Program Rationale

This section provides background and current information on the situation leading up to, and supporting the justification for, the proposed program.

A. Background

The proposal should describe the disaster or hazard, beginning with the numbers of affected or at-risk people and additional information such as the disaster's history, magnitude, impact, level of risk, duration, and location. OFDA encourages the inclusion of maps when available.

B. Demographic Profile of Target Population

The proposal should include information from surveys, assessments, and other documents that describe the conditions of the targeted beneficiary population(s) by sector. If possible, this information should include the health status, demographic characteristics – such as gender, age groups, and ethnicity – and other factors that identify the needs and provide justification for the proposed program. Where appropriate, it should also include the relationships between direct and indirect beneficiaries.

C. Coordination

The proposal should indicate if this program will stand-alone or how it is part of a larger country program. It should demonstrate coordination with NGOs, local, regional, and international organizations, and governmental entities to prevent duplication of effort and fill gaps.

INFORMATION SHARING

OFDA will not fund organizations that do not share programmatic data and information with appropriate humanitarian information coordination bodies in the field, such as Humanitarian Information Centers.

D. Developmental Relief

Organizations should discuss how the relevant principles of developmental relief have been incorporated into the program. (Please refer to page 13 for additional information.)

III. Proposal Framework

A. Program Goal

The program goal is the overall purpose for responding to a disaster or hazard and represents the impact sought by an organization. An organization's proposed program will logically contribute to this goal, although it will not necessarily accomplish the goal by itself. OFDA's goal for responding to disasters is to meet the critical needs of targeted, vulnerable populations using best practices and techniques in a timely and effective manner.

B. Critical Assumptions

Critical assumptions are an organization's best estimate of the conditions that will prevail during program implementation. A significant change in a critical assumption can affect results and should be identified and weighed before undertaking implementation. Assumptions are based on factors such as the local context, security, access, staffing, and availability of resources.

C. Objectives and Expected Results

Objectives logically support achievement of the goal and state which critical needs or vulnerabilities the program proposes to meet. Expected results are the measurable outcome of a program's objectives.

OFDA prefers objectives that correspond to specific sectors in order to support OFDA internal reporting requirements.

|--------------------------|-----------------------------|
| • Health | • Water and Sanitation |
| • Nutrition | • Food Security/Agriculture |
| • Shelter | • Non-Food Commodities |
| • Coordination | • Capacity Building |
| • Information Management | • Risk Reduction |
| • Logistics | |

Implementation in multiple sectors should be expressed through multiple objectives. Stating objectives in terms of sectors also provides flexibility in implementing programs in the event that conditions or urgent needs within the sector change.

If a desired sector is not found on the above list, please consult with the appropriate OFDA Cognizant Technical Officer (CTO) to come to agreement on the sector that will be used.

OFDA discourages over-descriptive details in an objective, such as the location of populations that might limit an organization's ability to respond to dynamic conditions such as population movements. Organizations can discuss location and other descriptive details representing the current state of the affected population in other sections of the proposal such as the "Demographic Profile of Target Population," the expected results, and/or in the implementation plan.

Separate mitigative aspects of an emergency program such as coordination, training, or capacity building should not be disaggregated into separate objectives if they are part of a larger sectoral objective such as health.

D. Indicators and Performance Baseline Data

Expected results identify what will be accomplished, whereas indicators show specifically what will be measured to determine whether the expected results have been achieved. Indicators are measurements that demonstrate a change resulting from a particular intervention and function to systematically monitor progress toward achieving expected results of each objective. (See Annex A: Indicators)

The performance baseline is a description of the prevailing conditions at the onset of the disaster. It is the point at which an organization has determined the magnitude of the problem or the needs its program will address. It is imperative to have a realistic picture of the starting point for any program in order to measure progress accurately.

IV. Program Description

A program description clearly and concisely outlines how the applicant proposes to meet the critical needs identified in the objective(s) and how the applicant will achieve its expected results. A narrative or log frame format is acceptable. The program description consists of the following sections:

A. Implementation Plan

An implementation plan provides a description of the activities necessary to achieve each expected result in the proposed timeframe. It should consist of the methodologies and processes (or steps) the implementing organization will undertake. In addition, the implementation plan should include the following:

- The total number of targeted beneficiaries and where they are located (at the province or equivalent level, as appropriate) by objective. Please note: OFDA reports on numbers of individuals, not families. If working with families, proposals should provide both number of families and corresponding number of individuals. Best estimates are encouraged if data is not available.

- The goods and services to be provided, such as supplemental feeding, seeds and tools, or shelter rehabilitation, and detailed distribution and logistic plans for providing these goods and services.
- Security conditions necessary to achieve expected results.

B. Monitoring Plan

OFDA recommends that partners develop a monitoring plan. Monitoring plans are most appropriate for preparedness activities or prolonged emergencies. A solid monitoring plan should capture key data including, at a minimum:

- Plans for data collection
- Definition of indicators
- Source, method, and frequency of data collection
- Persons identified to undertake tasks
- Plans for data analysis and use
- A timeline

Monitoring plans are intended to serve as a tool for partners in tracking their programs. OFDA recognizes the importance of independent evaluations of programs. OFDA will consider funding such evaluation on a case-by-case basis upon submission of a justification that details the outcomes to be achieved by the evaluation.

C. Transition or Exit Strategy

Based on achievement of objective(s) and context, applicants should describe a transition or exit strategy, including how the implementing organization will discuss this with all relevant stakeholders. Next steps may include mitigation, preparedness, integration into local systems, transition to development activities, or phase-out. Where applicable, proposals should describe steps to be taken to ensure sustainability of program activities and/or program results.

D. Restricted Goods

Restricted goods are agricultural commodities, motor vehicles, pharmaceuticals, pesticides, fertilizer, used equipment, and U.S. Government-owned excess property. See Annex B: Restricted and Ineligible Goods, Services and Suppliers for more details.

GUIDELINES FOR THE COST PROPOSAL

Applicants are requested to submit their cost proposal as a separate section, which is not subject to the page limitation on the program proposal. A cost proposal consists of a SF-424 (see Annex E: SF 424 Forms), a detailed/itemized budget, a budget narrative and other administrative documentation as required.

OFDA will review the cost proposal in conjunction with the program proposal for purposes of cost realism. Cost realism is the relationship of the level of resources and their relative cost to the achievement of the expected results. In addition to cost realism, OFDA will apply the following criteria to the cost proposal: allowability of costs, allocability of costs, reasonableness/effectiveness of costs, cost sharing or in-kind contributions, contributions of other donors, program income, sufficiency of justifications for procurement of restricted (See Annex B: Restricted and Ineligible Goods, Services, and Suppliers), extraordinary, or high-cost items.

- I. The Office of Management and Budget requires the SF-424 from U.S.-based organizations for all federal grant programs. Please note that non-U.S. organizations are exempt from this requirement (See Annex E: SF 424 Forms).
- II. The Detailed/Itemized Budget should list and account for individual line items within each object class category for each objective (sector). Object class categories are logical groupings of costs such as staff, travel, capital equipment, supplies, etc. (See example on page 25). In a detailed budget that contains more than one objective, those costs that cannot be logically attributed to an individual objective but are allocable to more than one or all objectives may be divided across objectives by percentages or may be captured in a separate object class category called “shared costs.”
- III. The Budget Narrative substantiates and explains how costs were estimated. The budget narrative provides an opportunity for the organization to provide the rationale for cost development such as the methodology and assumptions used to determine individual costs, i.e., engineering cost estimates, actual/current costs incurred, costs obtained through tenders or bids, catalog prices, published salary tables, etc. (See example on page 27). A thorough budget narrative will expedite the cost proposal review and preclude disruption of field staff to revisit cost and provide justifications after proposal submission.
- IV. Supporting Administrative Documentation includes but may not be limited to the following:
 - a. Organizational Structure. Applicants should explain how their headquarters and field office(s) are organized and explain how this structure is coordinated to achieve expected results.
 - b. Security. Applicants should describe how the agency manages security as a matter of agency policy and practice. Indicate if the organization has a written security policy. If not, explain.

- c. Accountability. Does the organization have a written management plan that provides for systems to ensure that staff adheres to international humanitarian laws, codes of ethics, and standards of practice?
- d. Details for all cost sharing proposed. Cost sharing is defined as support provided to the program by sources outside the U.S. Government. OFDA usually does not require cost sharing but will view cost sharing favorably during the proposal review.
- e. Details of in-kind contributions, if applicable. As with cost sharing, OFDA will view in-kind contributions favorably during the cost proposal review.
- f. Details of sub-award arrangements to the extent they are known at the time of proposal development. NOTE: If sub-awards are anticipated and not explained in the original proposal, the agreement officer's approval (after award) is required before the sub-agreement may be executed.
- g. Past Performance. Applicants should provide examples of past performance and sector expertise that demonstrate the organization's success in implementing similar programs. Include contact names and telephone numbers for any reference provided.
- h. Completed/signed Certifications and Representations (See Annex F: Certifications)
- i. For U.S. organizations only, copy of the self-certification for compliance with USAID policies and procedures for personnel, procurement, and travel.
- j. A copy of the organization's U.S. Government Negotiated Indirect Cost Rate Agreement (NICRA), if applicable.
- k. If program income (i.e., cost recovery or other revenues generated under the award) is anticipated, the estimated amount should be reflected in the budget, and the Budget Narrative should describe how the program income is proposed to be treated, i.e., additive, cost-sharing, or deductive, or a combination thereof (See 22 CFR 226.24).
- l. If restricted goods are proposed to be purchased, see Annex B: Restricted and Ineligible Goods, Services and Suppliers for additional information. Restricted goods are agricultural commodities (including food and seeds), motor vehicles, pharmaceuticals (including oral rehydration salts), contraceptives, pesticides, used equipment, fertilizers, and U.S. Government-owned excess property.
- m. Cost extension proposals should include a "pipeline analysis," i.e., actual and estimated costs incurred through the end of the current grant period, and funds which will not be expended by the end of the current grant period (both delineated by objective). Since unexpended funds will carry-over to the cost extension period, the budget (by objective) for the cost extension period should be reduced by the amount of unexpended/carry-over funds.

SAMPLE BUDGET NARRATIVE

Objective 1
Expat Program Manager	The Program Manager located in Nairobi, Kenya will devote 100% of his/her time to management and oversight of the program. The responsibilities include personnel, procurement, financial management, coordination, and reporting. The salary is in accordance with established expatriate compensation plans. (Note to preparer: Do not repeat this information when providing narrative for Objective 2 or place in separate objective "shared costs.")
Expat Program Officer	The Program Officer will devote 100% of his/her time to the management of the program in the field. The responsibilities include on-site management of program activities, supervision of local personnel, logistics coordination, local procurement, and financial management. The salary is in accordance with established expatriate compensation plans. (Note to preparer: Do not repeat this information when providing narrative for Objective 2 or place in separate objective "shared costs.")
Medical Officer	The Medical Officer will devote 100% of his/her time to Objective 1 designing and overseeing implementation of the medical activities set forth in the implementation plan. The salary is in accordance with established expatriate compensation plans.
Expat Benefits	Benefits are provided based on a standard compensation package for all expat personnel that include statutory withholdings, health/dental insurance, life insurance, contribution towards retirement, and war risk coverage. These benefits are offered to all expat personnel and are currently 33% of total salary. (Note to preparer: Do not repeat this information when providing narrative for Objective 2 or place in a separate objective "shared costs.")
Local Nurses	Local personnel will receive training as nurses and will support the program in that capacity with supervision by the Medical Officer. The salary is based on a local compensation scale developed as part of a consortium of NGOs working in the area.
Monitors	Health Monitors will be used to make home visits and to collect survey data. The salary is based on a local compensation scale developed as part of a consortium of NGOs working in the area.

GUIDELINES FOR PROPOSALS AND REPORTING

Drivers	Drivers are necessary to ensure security of expatriate personnel. Drivers are also provided with limited training to perform routine maintenance on all program vehicles. The salary is based on a local compensation scale developed as part of a consortium of NGOs working in the area. (Note to preparer: Do not repeat this information when providing narrative for Objective 2 or place in a separate objective “shared costs.”)
Travel	International Travel includes round trip airfare between _____ and _____ for positioning and repatriation of all expat personnel. Round trip airfares have been estimated at $3,000.00 per person. There is an additional international trip to London proposed for the Medical Officer to attend a conference on best practices. (Note to preparer: To the extent that travel is known and can be identified at the proposal stage, when approved with the grant award, no additional approvals will be required for international travel.) (Note to preparer: Do not repeat this information when providing narrative for Objective 2 or place in a separate objective “shared costs.”)
Regional Travel	Regional travel at an average cost of $300.00 per trip from Nairobi to program site is estimated as follows: Six trips (two/month) for necessary oversight and consultations with staff in Nairobi.
Vehicle Rental	Five vehicles will be rented in support of the program as this was determined to be more cost-effective than purchase. Two vehicles will be required for the Medical Objective to cover the two clinic sites. Three vehicles will be needed for the wat/san objective to support the three well-drilling teams. The cost for vehicle rental at $1,500.00 was established through a market survey and includes the cost of tires and spare parts for routine maintenance. (Note to preparer: Do not repeat this information when providing narrative for Objective 2 or place in a separate objective “shared costs.”) (Note to preparer: If non-U.S. vehicles are proposed, a justification should be included in accordance with guidance provided in Annex D: Restricted and Ineligible Goods, Services, and Suppliers.)
Vehicles	One vehicle for use in Nairobi will be provided in-kind to the program. The cost of the new vehicle purchased for this program is $30,000.
Medical Supplies	Medical supplies include gloves, bandages, syringes, and other disposable medical supplies. The cost of the medical supplies was established through competitive bid for a medical supply kit that would service the two clinics for approximately 10,000 persons/month.
Office Rental	The office/housing will be contained in the same building. The total cost of the building has been allocated between office and housing based on square footage. The housing was sought in the local market and a market survey indicates that the rental price is fair and reasonable.

GUIDELINES FOR PROPOSALS AND REPORTING

Housing	The office/housing will be contained in the same building. The total cost of the building has been allocated between office and housing based on square footage. The housing was sought in the local market and a market survey indicates that the rental price is fair and reasonable.
Indirect Cost	Indirect cost has been established through a NICRA with USAID dated 11/30/02 and provides for 10% of the base of application (total direct cost) for the period beginning 11/30/01 until amended.
Objective 2
Wat/San Officer	The water/sanitation Officer will devote 100% of his/her time to Objective 2 designing and overseeing implementation of the well rehabilitation activities set forth in the implementation plan. The salary is in accordance with established expatriate compensation plans.
Wat/San Engineers	Local water/sanitation engineers will be employed to oversee and supervise the well rehabilitation and to establish and train water committees to maintain pumps and make minor repairs. The salary is based on a local compensation scale developed as part of a consortium of NGOs working in the area.
Laborers	Local laborers will be employed to undertake manual labor associated with the well rehabilitation. The salary is based on a local compensation scale developed as part of a consortium of NGOs working in the area.
Pumps	The water/sanitation Officer has identified the monolith pump as an appropriate pump for the program. The price for the pumps was obtained through competitive bid and includes transport to the program site.
Construction Materials	The water/sanitation engineers have estimated the materials necessary to rehabilitate each well site based on prices in the local market. (For a listing of materials, please see Annex A: Indicators.)

General Budget Notes

GUIDELINES FOR REPORTING

The following guidance reflects OFDA's information needs and was designed to accommodate implementing partners' internal reporting practices. OFDA prefers frequent information sharing to facilitate monitoring, in lieu of less frequent in-depth reporting. To that end, OFDA has implemented a system to acquire regular "program updates," "data collection," and final "results reports," as differentiated below.

Types of Reporting

Program Updates are brief, timely, informal updates that provide information such as progress toward each objective, constraints, and changes in the situation. OFDA uses program updates to maintain oversight of program implementation and to obtain information that demonstrates progress in accomplishing objectives and achieving expected results. The first program update will include performance baseline data (See the Glossary for definition). This will be the implementing organization's starting point for subsequent program updates and results reporting (See Annex G: Program Update Examples). The content and frequency of program updates will be discussed with the CTO at the proposal review phase and will be reflected in the grant award.

"THE SCHEDULE"

Reporting requirements and instructions are communicated in Attachment One, "The Schedule," of the grant documents.

Data Collection is necessary to facilitate OFDA's responsibility to report to Congress and the public. At this time, the critical data elements that OFDA will request quarterly from their implementing partners are:

- Number of beneficiaries targeted, by objective, during the reporting period
- Number of beneficiaries reached, by objective, during the reporting period
- Cumulative number of beneficiaries targeted, by objective, to date
- Cumulative number of beneficiaries reached, by objective, to date
- Total numbers of beneficiaries targeted and reached to date (detail whether the same beneficiary population is being served in each objective*)

*For example, number of beneficiaries targeted and reached in health may be 5,000, and in water/sanitation 5,000, but the cumulative total of beneficiaries reached is 5,000 not 10,000 because it is the same population targeted and reached in each objective.

OFDA will communicate directly with an organization's headquarters and will provide guidance on format and method of submission for this data.

ORGANIZATIONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Recipients should immediately notify OFDA of developments that have a significant impact on OFDA-supported activities.

Results Reports are required to be submitted 90 days after the end of the program, or annually if the program is extended beyond one year. They emphasize quantitative as well as qualitative data and measure impact using indicators. This is not negotiable.

The starting point for results reporting should be the performance baseline established in the first program update and should provide the following for each objective:

- A description of assessments and surveillance data used to measure results.
- Total number of targeted and reached beneficiaries.
- Quantitative and qualitative data that reflect results. Indicators should be used to express this information. (See Annex A: Indicators).
- An explanation of successes achieved, constraints encountered, and adjustments made for achieving each objective.
- A discussion of the overall performance of the project, including details of any discrepancies between expected and actual results and any recommendations for improving the design of the program.
- Success stories.
- Overall cost effectiveness should be addressed with particular attention paid to cost savings and/or cost overruns. Other significant cost impacts such as significant exchange rate fluctuations or other types of inflation should be detailed.

Financial Reporting requirements are outlined in the USAID grant agreement. However, OFDA may request information about pipelines and availability of funds during the course of program implementation and when budget changes are requested.

RECOMMENDED RESULTS REPORT FORMAT

The following information is required in the results report:

PROGRAM OVERVIEW AND PERFORMANCE

- Areas of activity
- A description of assessments and surveillance data used to measure results
- Demographic profile of the targeted and reached population
- Total number of targeted and reached beneficiaries for the overall program
- Quantitative and qualitative data
- Successes achieved, constraints encountered, adjustments made for achieving each objective
- Overall performance of the project
- Summary of cost effectiveness

PROGRAM MODIFICATIONS REQUIRING PRIOR APPROVAL

When a proposal successfully completes the review process and is approved, assistance funding is obligated through a grant agreement. It is important to read the grant agreement and become familiar with the terms and conditions associated with use of USAID humanitarian assistance funding. Recipients are required to report deviations from budget and program plans and request approvals for budget and program plan revisions. In addition to other terms that might be set forth in individual grant agreements, the following are examples of changes that might occur during the life of a program that would require prior written approval.

- A change in the scope or the objective of the program, including extension of the grant duration (even if there is no associated budget revision requiring prior written approval).
- The departure or replacement of program staff who are personally identified in the application or award document.
- The absence of the approved program director for more than three months, or a 25 percent reduction in the time that the approved program director devotes to the program.
- The need for additional U.S. Government funding.
- The transfer of amounts budgeted for indirect costs to absorb increases in direct costs, or vice versa.
- The inclusion of costs that require prior approval in accordance with OMB Circular A-122 “Cost Principles for Non-Profit Organizations,” unless this requirement is specifically waived in the USAID grant agreement.
- The transfer of funds allotted for training allowances (direct payment to trainees) to other categories of expense.
- The sub-award, transfer, or subcontracting of any work under an award, unless this activity is described in the application and funded in the approved budget of the award. This provision does not apply to the purchase of supplies, material, equipment or general support services.

Requests for prior written approval should be addressed to the CTO named in the grant agreement and copied to the Agreement Officer. Requests should describe the purpose of the change and should detail the impact that change will have on the program as originally proposed. Requests should be submitted separately from other routine correspondence such as program updates.

Requests should be made as soon as a change is required. OFDA will require time to provide prior written approval and, therefore, OFDA encourages organizations to allow a minimum of ten days for unfunded changes and a minimum of 45 days for funded changes.

ANNEX A: INDICATORS

Indicators are used to reflect baseline data, describe current conditions, and demonstrate change based on program interventions. OFDA encourages the use of indicators as a means to systematically track progress of a program and to maintain a focus on achieving the expected results of each objective. Advice on selecting strong indicators is available at the following link:

http://www.dec.org/pdf_docs/pnaby214.pdf

Solid indicators should be:

- Measurable: Quantifiable or explainable
- Direct: Measures the intended outcome
- Objective: Easily understood
- Practical: Based on data that is easily and economically gathered
- Sensitive: Reflects change
- Reliable: Verifiable and replicable
- Adequate: Provides sufficient information but is not excessive

OFDA primarily relies on output, process, and impact indicators. Output indicators reflect services rendered or goods given, such as the number of persons trained or plastic sheeting rolls distributed. Process indicators demonstrate how a program is evolving and may report on factors that impact an activity's execution, such as availability of qualified staff. Impact indicators are often the most useful indicators for measuring results. For example, they may reflect changes in behavior, measure an improvement of the health status in a complex emergency, or show a decrease in economic losses due to seasonal flooding. It may be difficult to obtain impact data for short-term interventions. For long-term programs, however, OFDA encourages partners to put an emphasis on impact indicators.

SOURCES OF BASELINE DATA

In order to measure progress, it is imperative to establish a performance baseline for all of the above indicators. This data may be obtained from a variety of internationally recognized sources, such as UNDP, WHO or other U.N. survey data. In the absence of such reports, an implementing partner's in-depth assessment of a current situation at the time of intervention is acceptable.

Please note that, while quantitative indicators are commonly used, OFDA also encourages the use of qualitative reporting to complement quantitative data. Qualitative indicators are descriptions that reflect changes in attitudes, perceptions, behavioral practices, or cultural norms. This data is usually presented in some narrative form, but it may also be quantified, as when a number value is given to a scaled survey response (e.g., 1= strongly agree ... 5=strongly disagree). This sort of data may be useful in gauging the appropriateness of a program approach, its effectiveness, and its potential for sustainability. Qualitative indicators should not be simple anecdotes; the data can and should be collected systematically using standard and replicable qualitative methodologies.

ANNEX B: RESTRICTED AND INELIGIBLE GOODS, SERVICES AND SUPPLIERS

For more information, please see the USAID Automated Directive System (ADS) Chapter 312.

Ineligible Goods and Services: the grant recipient may NOT procure the following items:

- Military equipment
- Surveillance equipment
- Commodities and services for support of police or other law enforcement activities
- Abortion equipment and services
- Luxury goods and gambling equipment
- Weather modification equipment

Ineligible Suppliers: The grant recipient may not procure goods or services furnished by any firm or individual whose name appears on the “List of Parties Excluded From Federal Procurement and Non-procurement Programs,” the website for which is listed in Annex C: References. Applicants should also consult the Office of Foreign Assets Control in the Department of Treasury to review the lists of specially designated nationals (SDN) and blocked persons. (See Annex C: References).

Restricted Goods: The grant recipient must obtain prior approval for procurement of the following items:

- Agricultural commodities
- Motor vehicles that are not manufactured in the U.S. (includes vehicle leases of six months or more)
- Pharmaceuticals (including oral rehydration salts)
- Pesticides
- Fertilizer
- Used Equipment
- U.S. Government-owned excess property

If such items are of U.S. source and origin, are identified in the budget, and are incorporated into the award, they are deemed to be approved. Otherwise, they must be approved (after award) prior to purchase. To facilitate award and program implementation and to reduce administrative burdens, the following additional guidance is provided:

Agricultural Commodities: Food (other than for nutritional and health purposes) is generally not financed by OFDA, and seeds will be subject to special seed grower’s certification requirements.

Motor Vehicles: Proposals that include non-U.S. vehicles should include a rationale for purchasing non-U.S. vehicles, and, if non-U.S. vehicles are approved, all vehicles will be subject to the order of preference and file documentation requirements in paragraph (b)(1) of the standard provision entitled “USAID Eligibility Rules for Goods and Services” (see Annex C for website) and a supplemental descending order of preference, as follows: U.S.-manufactured vehicles, vehicles assembled in the cooperating country or a Code 941 country using a substantial number of parts and sub-assemblies manufactured in the U.S., vehicles manufactured in any Code 935 country by a subsidiary of a U.S. manufacturer, and vehicles manufactured in a Code 935 country by other than subsidiaries of U.S. manufacturers.

Pharmaceuticals: Proposals that include pharmaceutical products should include (in the technical proposal) a “drug list” which provides the following information: the generic and brand name(s), strength(s)/concentration(s), dosage form(s), quantity(ies), unit package size(s), intended therapeutic use(s) of the identified pharmaceuticals, and, to the extent feasible, the anticipated source(s). Purchases of all approved pharmaceutical products will be subject to a special provision for the procurement of medicines and pharmaceutical products which, inter alia, limits such purchases to FDA-approved products/sources or from UNICEF unless otherwise approved, requires the grant recipient to assume the risk of purchases of non-FDA approved products/sources or from sources other than UNICEF, and requires submission of safety and efficacy information.

Pesticides: OFDA will generally not finance the purchase of pesticides and will generally only consider such purchases in response to public health emergencies. Obtaining internal USAID approval for pesticide purchases is extremely problematic; hence pesticides should not be proposed for OFDA funding if at all possible.

Used Equipment: OFDA will generally not finance the purchase of used equipment, and any approval to purchase used equipment will normally require applicant’s assurance that the requirements of the program will be satisfied if the material purchased is used, rebuilt, or reconditioned; that economic considerations justify procurement of used, rebuilt or reconditioned equipment; that the price is reasonable; and if the equipment is used, the justification shall explain why it is not to be rebuilt or reconditioned. In addition, the applicant must arrange for the inspection and appraisal of the equipment by an inspector approved by USAID with the understanding that the cost will be eligible for USAID financing only if the used equipment is subsequently approved for OFDA financing. This is a time-consuming and risky process; hence, used equipment should not be proposed for OFDA funding if at all possible.

Fertilizers: Fertilizers may be purchased locally to the extent that either local procurement is authorized pursuant to the standard provision entitled “Local Procurement” (see Annex C for website), or (subject to the order or preference and file documentation requirements in paragraph [b][1] of the standard provision entitled “USAID Eligibility Rules for Goods and Services”) the host country is authorized for general source, origin, and supplier nationality purposes. Obtaining internal USAID approval for non-local purchases of fertilizer is extremely problematic; hence non-local fertilizer purchases should not be proposed for OFDA funding if at all possible. Depending on the type to be purchased, fertilizers may be subject to additional requirements regarding concentrations, application, etc.

U.S. Government-Owned Excess Property: It is not anticipated that any U.S. Government-owned excess property will be purchased.

Foreign Policy Restricted Countries: A full listing can be viewed at http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara/cfr/waisidx_02/22cfr228_02.html under Section 228.03.

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 180 minutes per response, including time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. Send comments regarding the burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to the Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (0348-0044), Washington, DC 20503.

General Instructions

This form is designed so that application can be made for funds from one or more grant programs. In preparing the budget, adhere to any existing Federal grantor agency guidelines which prescribe how and whether budgeted amounts should be separately shown for different functions or activities within the program. For some programs, grantor agencies may require budgets to be separately shown by function or activity. For other programs, grantor agencies may require a breakdown by function or activity. Sections A, B, C, and D should include budget estimates for the whole project except when applying for assistance which requires Federal authorization in annual or other funding period increments. In the latter case, Sections A, B, C, and D should provide the budget for the first budget period (usually a year) and Section E should present the need for Federal assistance in the subsequent budget periods. All applications should contain a breakdown by the object class categories shown in Lines a-k of Section B.

Section A. Budget Summary Lines 1-4 Columns (a) and (b)

For applications pertaining to a single Federal grant program (Federal Domestic Assistance Catalog number) and not requiring a functional or activity breakdown, enter on Line 1 under Column (a) the Catalog program title and the Catalog number in Column (b).

For applications pertaining to a single program requiring budget amounts by multiple functions or activities, enter the name of each activity or function on each line in Column (a), and enter the Catalog number in Column (b). For applications pertaining to multiple programs where none of the programs require a breakdown by function or activity, enter the Catalog program title on each line in Column (a) and the respective Catalog number on each line in Column (b).

For applications pertaining to multiple programs where one or more programs require a breakdown by function or activity, prepare a separate sheet for each program requiring the breakdown. Additional sheets should be used when one form does not provide adequate space for all breakdown of data required. However, when more than one sheet is used, the first page should provide the summary totals by programs.

Lines 1-4, Columns (c) through (g)

For new applications, leave Column (c) and (d) blank. For each line entry in Columns (a) and (b), enter in Columns (e), (f), and (g) the appropriate amounts of funds needed to support the project for the first funding period (usually a year).

For continuing grant program applications, submit these forms before the end of each funding period as required by the grantor agency. Enter in Columns (c) and (d) the estimated amounts of funds which will remain unobligated at the end of the grant funding period only if the Federal grantor agency instructions provide for this. Otherwise, leave these columns blank. Enter in columns (e) and (f) the amounts of funds needed for the upcoming period. The amount(s) in Column (g) should be the sum of amounts in Columns (e) and (f).

For supplemental grants and changes to existing grants, do not use Columns (c) and (d). Enter in Column (e) the amount of the increase or decrease of Federal funds and enter in Column (f) the amount of the increase or decrease of non-Federal funds. In Column (g) enter the new total budgeted amount (Federal and non-Federal) which includes the total previous authorized budgeted amounts plus or minus, as appropriate, the amounts shown in Columns (e) and (f). The amount(s) in Column (g) should not equal the sum of amounts in Columns (e) and (f).

Line 5 - Show the totals for all columns used.

Section B Budget Categories

In the column headings (1) through (4), enter the titles of the same programs, functions, and activities shown on Lines 1-4, Column (a), Section A. When additional sheets are prepared for Section A, provide similar column headings on each sheet. For each program, function or activity, fill in the total requirements for funds (both Federal and non-Federal) by object class categories.

Line 6a-i - Show the totals of Lines 6a to 6h in each column.

Line 6j - Show the amount of indirect cost.

Line 6k - Enter the total of amounts on Lines 6i and 6j. For all applications for new grants and continuation grants the total amount in column (5), Line 6k, should be the same as the total amount shown in Section A, Column (g), Line 5. For supplemental grants and changes to grants, the total amount of the increase or decrease as shown in Columns (1)-(4), Line 6k should be the same as the sum of the amounts in Section A, Columns (e) and (f) on Line 5.

Line 7 - Enter the estimated amount of income, if any, expected to be generated from this project. Do not add or subtract this amount from the total project amount, Show under the program

For new applications and continuation grant applications, enter in the proper columns amounts of Federal funds which will be needed to complete the program or project over the succeeding funding periods (usually in years). This section need not be completed for revisions (amendments, changes, or supplements) to funds for the current year of existing grants.

If more than four lines are needed to list the program titles, submit additional schedules as necessary.

Line 20 - Enter the total for each of the Columns (b)-(e). When additional schedules are prepared for this Section, annotate accordingly and show the overall totals on this line.

3. CERTIFICATION REGARDING DEBARMENT, SUSPENSION, AND OTHER RESPONSIBILITY MATTERS – PRIMARY COVERED TRANSACTIONS²

(a) Instructions for Certification

(1) By signing and submitting this application/proposal, the prospective primary participant is providing the certification set out below.

(2) The inability of a person to provide the certification required below will not necessarily result in denial of participation in this covered transaction. The prospective participant shall submit an explanation of why it cannot provide the certification set out below. The certification or explanation will be considered in connection with the department or agency's determination whether to enter into this transaction. However, failure of the prospective primary participant to furnish a certification or an explanation shall disqualify such person from participation in this transaction.

(3) The certification in this clause is a material representation of fact upon which reliance was placed when the department or agency determined to enter into this transaction. If it is later determined that the prospective primary participant knowingly rendered an erroneous certification, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency may terminate this transaction for cause or default.

(4) The prospective primary participant shall provide immediate written notice to the department or agency to whom this application/proposal is submitted if at any time the prospective primary participant learns that its certification was erroneous when submitted or has become erroneous by reason of changed circumstances.

(5) The terms "covered transaction," "debarred," "suspended," "ineligible," "lower tier covered transaction," "participant," "person," "primary covered transaction," "principal," "proposal," and "voluntarily excluded," as used in this clause, have the meaning set out in the Definitions and Coverage sections of the rules implementing Executive Order 12549.³ You may contact the department or agency to which this application/proposal is being submitted for assistance in obtaining a copy of those regulations.

(6) The prospective primary participant agrees by submitting this application/proposal that, should the proposed covered transaction be entered into, it shall not knowingly enter into any lower tier covered transaction with a person who is debarred, suspended, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this covered transaction, unless authorized by the department or agency entering into this transaction.

(7) The prospective primary participant further agrees by submitting this application/proposal that it will include the clause titled "Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility, and Voluntary Exclusion -- Lower Tier Covered Transactions,"⁴ provided by the department or agency entering into this covered transaction, without modification, in all lower tier covered transactions and in all solicitations for lower tier covered transactions.

(8) A participant in a covered transaction may rely upon a certification of a prospective participant in a lower tier covered transaction that it is not debarred, suspended, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from the covered transaction, unless it knows that the certification is erroneous. A participant may decide the methods and frequency by which it determines the eligibility of its principals. Each participant may, but is not required to, check the Nonprocurement List⁵.

(9) Nothing contained in the foregoing shall be construed to require establishment of a system of records in order to render in good faith the certification required by this clause. The knowledge and information of a participant is not required to exceed that which is normally possessed by a prudent person in the ordinary course of business dealing.

(10) Except for transactions authorized under paragraph 6 of these instructions, if a participant in a covered transaction knowingly enters into a lower tier covered transaction with a person who is suspended, debarred, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this transaction, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency may terminate this transaction for cause or default.

ANNEX G: PROGRAM UPDATE EXAMPLES

Program updates can be informal and should keep OFDA apprised of any developments that might impact the program. Several examples of program updates follow:

Example 1:

Update on Helping Hand Water/Sanitation Program in Alphabetland
Submitted to USAID/OFDA on 8/25/02

As stated in Grant AOT-G-00-70-00444-00, the objective of the program is to increase water availability for the drought-affected residents of Beta City. The Expected Result is an increase in the provision of water from 8.2 l/p/d, as found in the baseline survey, to an estimated 15 l/p/d. The result is to be reached through the construction of a dam and establishment of a village water committee to maintain the dam and collect fees for the water.

Constraints:

1. Although the initial digging has been completed, work on the water troughs for livestock has been temporarily suspended due to several days of unseasonably heavy rains. We anticipate that we will resume work next week and that we should not experience any substantial delay in the completion of the program.
2. The locally-hired supervisor for the project had to be fired due to suspicions that he was using the project to benefit his family members at the expense of the rest of the community. The Country Director is currently on site to recruit a new supervisor. This process should be completed within the next two days.

Helping Hand will keep OFDA apprised of any future developments that impact the program or cause additional delays to its completion.

Example 2:

Update on OFDA-funded Nutrition Unit Activities

This update covers activities carried out by the Nutrition Unit between January - August 2000.

National Consultants

- The two national consultants signed 6-month contracts with Helping Hand on January 12.
- The candidate selected for Charlie City accepted the offer and has gone through the medical clearance. Contract should be signed within the next two weeks.
- The candidate selected for Delta City turned down the offer and the position has been re-advertised.

The International Consultant

Helping Hand has made progress in recruiting an international consultant. Dr. Will Weigh is expected to sign a 6-month contract by the end of August.

Nutrition Guidelines

The Nutrition Unit chaired a task force meeting on April 11, 2001 and proposed the revision of the 1972 national nutrition guidelines. Experienced technical nutritionists from NGOs and agencies were charged with the task of updating the guidelines by early May.

GUIDELINES FOR PROPOSALS AND REPORTING

A workshop to review the first draft of the guidelines was conducted on May 18-19. Participants included nutritionists from relevant UN agencies, NGOs, and the MOH. The final guidelines will incorporate recommendations and issues discussed at the two workshops and should be ready for release by early October.

Major recommendations put forward by the participants:

1. Disseminate the guidelines as widely as possible
2. Develop a full training package in order to institutionalize the guidelines
3. Organize a PR campaign to familiarize high-level officials from government offices, UN agencies and NGOs with the guidelines
4. Develop a manual for the management of nutrition programs

Nutrition Training Manual

The Nutrition Unit is in the process of finalizing a training manual on basic nutrition concepts and assessment of nutrition in emergencies for Alphabetland. The new guidelines are being used as the main reference for preparing the training manual.

Alphabetland Nutrition Data Base

The Nutrition Unit has developed a means by which the MOH can meet its needs for a central information system that handles nutrition related information. The database will help in the coordination of emergency assistance and decision-making in emergencies. The Nutrition Task Force members received an introduction to how the database operates at a meeting held on July 20, 2000. The Alphabetland Nutrition Database (AND) system is now in its testing phase, with two users currently active. The unit disseminates nutrition survey reports from different sources to all stakeholders. This is being done as survey reports are received from agencies and NGOs.

Training

The Nutrition Unit conducted the following training for MOH staff in order to build the technical capacity of staff at the federal, regional, and zonal levels to collect, review, and use nutrition related information:

- Nutrition Assessment training for 19 government staff. The training was followed by fieldwork and training on nutritional report writing.
- Database management training for 13 government staff.

Future plan (September – December 2000)

- Finalize the training manual on basic nutrition concepts and assessment of nutrition in emergencies for Alphabetland
- Train the regional-level nutritionists on nutritional assessment in emergencies and report writing
- Finalize Guidelines
- Prepare the final Results Report and transfer unit activities to Ministry of Health.

Subject: Update on Security in Alphetland
Hi John--

I just wanted to pass on to you this information about security in our program area (Charlie City) in Alphetland, for your information in case you haven't heard about this latest fighting. Our organization, Helping Hand, is considering keeping many of its staff in Beta City until things cool down again in Charlie City. Our Country Director is still based in Delta City. Fighting is apparently near to our staff house in Charlie City, but we have fortunately no injuries to report.

Best wishes,
Jane Doe

Jane,
Latest update is bad fighting again.
See attached latest IRIN report.
Our staff is okay. Our expatriate staff was in Beta City when violence broke out and they will stay there the rest of this week.
UN reports that both sides are running out of ammunition, so things should calm down in a few days.

Regards, Jill

ANNEX H: CONTEXT-SPECIFIC PROGRAMMING

All populations function within specific natural and social environments that are highly interactive. Every disaster disrupts those natural and social environments differently according to a wide range of variables. Impacts of disasters on affected populations include death, displacement, impaired health, violence and persecution on the grounds of gender and ethnicity, damage or destruction of productive assets and the natural resource base; breakdown of family and community organization; and loss of purpose, self-esteem, identity, and self-reliance. To be effective, relief programs must identify and address the differential effects of a disaster on the male and female adults, adolescents, and children. Goods and services should be provided in ways that bolster, rather than undermine, the ability of individuals, households and communities to deal with and recover from crisis.

The principles outlined below are designed to help OFDA's implementing partners better tailor their programs to the unique context of every disaster, by incorporating information on a variety of issues that may influence the planning, implementation, and impact of a proposed intervention. The types of information that should be included will vary for every disaster. The aim is not to include volumes of background information with each proposal, but to identify and address succinctly throughout the proposal analysis the various characteristics of a given disaster situation that bear on the proposed intervention.

The desire for rapid response does not automatically preclude the need to address context-specific issues from the very onset of a disaster. Understandably, however, during crisis situations, and in areas where an organization has a short history of operation, the capacity to provide comprehensive context analysis may be limited. Additionally, in some settings, political sensitivities will preclude the mention by name of specific ethnic groups, for example.

1. International partners have the responsibility to identify how populations function and organize themselves in non-disaster periods and show this relevance to disaster programming.

Organizations shall demonstrate the relevance to their proposed activities by addressing the following characteristics during non-disaster periods.

- Demographic variation within the affected population according to gender, age, ethnicity, and socio-economic status.
- Social and economic networks and organization of the affected population.
- Relations between the political and the economic power that shape the structure and affect the functioning of local populations (e.g., between males and females; state-sanctioned and traditional leadership; various ethnic groups; regions and the nation; the affected nation and other nations).
- Connections between the affected population(s) and the local ecosystem and natural resources.

2. The design and implementation of relief programs shall address the range of observed and potential effects of the disaster on affected population(s).

- The impacts of the disaster on the capacities and needs of the affected population(s) according to gender, age, ethnicity, and socio-economic status.
- Effects of the disaster on the social and economic networks, and the organization of the affected population(s).
- Disaster-induced shifts in economic, political, and social power among the affected population(s).
- Impacts of the disaster on the local ecosystem and on the capacity of the affected population to access and utilize natural resources.

3. International partners have the responsibility to identify and address the impact of their proposed activities on disaster-affected populations.

- Proposals shall incorporate specific references to relevant lessons learned from previous disaster situations and/or development programs in the affected area.
- Recipient organizations shall describe the potential short- and long-term impacts (both positive and negative) of their proposed interventions on the health and welfare of the affected population(s) and the environment. For example: What are the anticipated impacts of relief food distribution on health, local and regional agricultural productivity, markets, and power relations among members of a household?
